

The world would be a better place if they sold more books. Reading books is won of my favorite things to do. Books that are about nonfiction or sciences can help you. They can teach you to read. Other books can persuade you or entertain and some books inform. Books can teach you about people. They also can teach you about history. My favorite kind of series is Magic Tree House. I think the world would be a better place if everyone had more books.